The Shows

RUSH: A Student Dance Concert

RUSH features a wide range of dances—from ballet and hip hop to tribal fusion Bollywood dance—all choreographed and performed by students.

Trickster Tales

by Kelley Zinge; directed by Robert Hubbard

Enjoy drumming, dancing, singing and stories about some of the craftiest characters from American Indian lore, including coyotes, rabbits, ravens, raccoons and spiders. Our traditional Children's Theatre production will also be presented for audiences of schoolchildren every Tuesday and Thursday from Oct. 4 to Nov. 15.

Ah, Wilderness!

by Eugene O'Neill; directed by Karen Bohm Barker

Patriotism. Parties. True love. Fourth of July weekend in 1906 is the setting for O'Neill's popular comedy about family, growing up and growing old.

Directing class one-acts

Enjoy a holiday buffet of plays as students who have been learning about directing take their final exam by presenting an evening of one-act tragedies, comedies and everything in between.

Join the Northwestern College Theatre Facebook group.

Comedy of Errors

by Shakespeare; directed by Jeff Barker

Shakespeare wrote this comic farce sometime before his 30th birthday and considered the panoply of classic silliness one of his favorite laugh-fests.

18th annual World Premiere Festival

The playwriting focus of Northwestern's theatre program is unusual for a college our size and based on the idea that changing culture starts with scripts. This year's festival will feature a full-length play written by a student and selected by an external adjudicator.

The Winslow Boy

by Terence Rattigan; directed by Jeff Taylor

Set in pre-WWI England, Ronnie Winslow, age 12, has been expelled from a prestigious naval academy over a petty theft. When his father attempts to sue the academy, he unwittingly ignites a national uproar and catapults his quiet middle-class family into the limelight.

Student-initiated projects

Our season will include several student-initiated projects that will showcase not only our students' acting and design talent, but also their entrepreneurial spirit and ingenuity. Prepare to be surprised.

I'm interested in providing hospitality to theatre students.

Patrons support NWC theatre students by providing snacks and meals during rehearsals and occasional housing during college breaks.

I'm interested in serving on the Theatre Patrons board of directors.

The Theatre Patron board sets membership dues, publicizes the theatre season, and allocates funding for theatre department projects.
